CHANG'S ARMIES TO START OFFENSIVE TODAY

FIGHTING AT KILKENNY IS REPORTED AS "WORST YET"

Insurgents Invade City, Fortify Public Buildings

COUNTER ATTACK

Free Staters, By Vigorous Tactics, Gain Ascendency

(Reu'er's Service)

London, May 3.—Yesterday's fighting at Kilkenny culminated in the severest battle since the truce. A force of insurgents invaded the town, organised a system of sniping posts and fortified prominent buildings, allegedly including the Protestant Cathedral. The Free State garrison started a vigorous offensive and gradually gained the ascendency. They recovered nearly the whole of the town by midnight and captured a hundred prisoners and arms and ammunition. Irregulars are at present holding out in an almost impregnable position, 'the Marquis of Ormonde's castle.

London, May 3.—An air of uncertainty reigns throughout Ireland. Further banks have been raided. Anti-Treaty forces invaded Kilkenny and occupied strategic points, but numbers of them surrendered after fighting to the pro-Treaty forces. Free State soldiers seized Republican positions at Calway after small opposition. Trains from Belfast were held up at Dundalk and goods removed.

London, May 2.—Anti-Treaty irregulars yesterday, raided fourteen branches of the Bank of Ireland in various parts of Ireland and took £50,000 for which receipts were given. The banks concerned are insured with English companies.

Railway lines in Tipperary have been torn up, bridges destroyed and telegraph lines cut.

A manifesto jointly signed by leaders of the pro-Treaty and anti-Treaty forces, including Mr. Michael Collins and three members of the rebel executive, has been issued, appealing for an all round closing of ranks in order to avert the calamity of a conflict, and advising the unification of forces based on the acceptance of the fact that the majority of the people are willing to accept the Treaty and an election with a view to forming a government having the confidence of the whole country.

A message from Dublin states that the Army Manifesto has been disavowed by the anti-Treaty Commander O'Connor who terms it a political dodge intended to split the Republican ranks.

It is stated that the Irish elections will probably be held about June 15.

Mr. F. W. Hadley has been nominated to act as special commissioner by Mr. Roth and it is understood that this will be assented to by Mr. N. E. Lurton, representing Mrs. Roth. A hearing in the case by Mr. Hadley probably will be held today.

Armed Robber Gang Hold Up Cash Shop

Armed robbers held up a cash shop near the corner of Peking and Honan Roads last evening and escaped with about $70 after terrorising the inmates. If the gang had called a little earlier they would have secured several thousand dollars which had been taken to the bank shortly after 6 o'clock.

The robbery occurred shortly after 7 p.m., when six men entered the shop. Two were armed with revolvers which they presented, warning the inmates that any outcry would result in shooting. There was a policeman on the corner and an armed watchman at the rear of the shop but so quickly and effectively did the gang work that they escaped without observation and owing to the terrorisation effected no notification was given the police until some minutes after the robbers had disappeared.

CHURCH MUST FACE ISSUES SAYS CHINESE LEADER HERE

National Conference Chairman Outlines Problems Ahead

OFFICERS NAMED

Dr. C. Y. Cheng Made Presiding Head Of Big Assembly

The National Christian Conference settled down to hard work yesterday in its first all day's session. For almost seven hours the 1,200 delegates sat together through the strain of bi-lingual discussions and of the most concentrated thinking. When they were not in formal session they split up into counuess small groups and committees for further fellowship, to judge by the presence of the five colored badges in all of the Nanking Road restaurants and hotels.

Yesterday's program furnished a study in the psychology of the crowd. The opening session was the first of a series of devotional periods to be conducted throughout the Conference by Dr. Henry T. Hodgkin who became well-known in Shanghai during the past Winter by reason of his many talks on "Phases of Christian Internationalism." The great body of delegates were held in quiet unity through this half-hour.

MECHANICS COMPLEX

Immediately following came the first business session of the Conference. The mechanics of passing the proposed rules of order disclosed the great difficulty of securing common understanding in so large and mixed an audience. Speaker and interpreter had to take turns standing behind the electric device installed on the platform and in the effort to apply Robert's rules to an international situation they were never intended to meet, there were frequent cries of "translate, translate!" He who could slip from Mandarin to English and vice versa was master of the situation. As someone was overheard to say, "these are the growing pains of internationalism."

As the first opportunity came for discussion from the floor one felt the tremendous power of this people's assembly trying to think and act for the whole of China. Each Chinese delegate to the Conference represents 1,000 communities and each foreign missionary represents 20 of his colleagues; they were a crowd keen on following and participating in this great occasion of the founding of the Chinese Christian Church.

DR. CHENG MADE CHAIRMAN

The Committee on arrangements which, under the chairmanship of Bishop Graves, has carried the preparations for the Conference for the past two years, laid down its office at this session and gave place to others elected at this time as conference officers and business committee. The Rev. Dr. Cheng Ching-yi was elected Chairman, Dr. Harold Balme, Rev. K. T. Chung and Rev. P. F. Price as Vice-chairmen and Dr. David Z. T. Yui as chairman of the business committee. Associated with these officers are 45 other men and women who are to plan the conference program from day to day.

The address given by Dr. Cheng, immediately following his election, was probably one of two or three of the high-water marks which will distinguish the whole ten days.

CHAIRMAN SPEAKS

Dr. Cheng spoke at length on the significance of the Conference and emphasised the serious problems which must be met in working out the ideals for which it stands. He commented upon the steady growth of the Chinese church and of its desire for self-expression, pointing out in this connection the problem brought up by its reliance upon the thought, ideas and methods of work of others. The church's progress is seriously handicapped, he said, by being regarded as a foreign religion. The universal idea must be brought out.

It must be admitted, Dr. Cheng stated, that there was little or no sign at present of the Chris-

$500 IS OFFERED FOR CAPTURE OF KOREAN ASSASSIN

Japanese Officials Post Reward; Kim Eak Sang Sent To Japan

A reward of $500 has been offered by the Japanese authorities for the capture of Au Soong Nyuin, the Korean who shot and killed Mrs. W. J. Snyder of Brazil, Indiana, at the Customs jetty on March 28 and who escaped from the Japanese Consulate jail early Tuesday morning.

Search of the Settlements and Chinese districts yesterday revealed no trace of the fugitive assassin, nor of the Japanese prisoner who escaped with him, but the railway and waterway points of departure from Shanghai are being closely watched and it is believed that Au is still in hiding in Shanghai. One of the chief factors on which the authorities are relying for a recapture is the fact that Au, while dressed in Chinese garb and able ordinarily to pass for a Chinese, speaks but little of the local dialect and uses the Northern dialect with a noticeable accent.

It was learned yesterday that the Korean made his escape from the cell, located on the second floor at the Consulate, only about ten minutes after the watchman had made his rounds.

Au's accomplice in the attempted assassination of Baron Tanaka, Kim Eak Sang, was put aboard the Yamashiro Maru at 4:30 a.m. yesterday to be taken to Nagasaki, where he will be tried in the higher court.

Race Track Gowns Not So Colorful As Formerly

By Elsie McCormick

We don't know just why it was, but somehow it seemed to us that the posies that bloomed on the Race Course yesterday didn't have nearly as brightly colored petals as they did last year. The proportion of violets to orchids was unusually high and there were even a few cabbage roses and dandelions in the crowd. We seemed to notice it particularly after the fatal ninth, when we mushed our disillusioned way through the ankle-deep layer of torn tickets that carpeted territory around the grandstand, but then the same thought occurred before our dreams were trampled down by hoof-beats. Isn't it wonderful what a mere horse's hoof can do if it steps on your bank-account?

Well, anyway, it seemed to us that circus clothes were surprisingly scarce and that, if the scene was being put on at a theater, the program would have to announce that the costumes were mostly by Wang Kee. The busy beeing of the ladies around the Pari-Mutuel counter suggested that they were out for blood rather than for admiration and that many are planning to get their Spring clothes as a result of the races and not on account of them, if you know what we mean.

Weather too old for early Spring and too young for Summer made dressing for the races a problematical process. There was a feeling in the air which suggested that somebody had left the door of his ice-box open. Those who had organdy dresses wore them anyway, however, completing their costumes by a trimming of goose-flesh cut on the bias. Today some of the organdy ladies will be sucking thermometers and the rest of them will be lunching on quinine. We are grateful to them, however, for besides forecasting the Summer styles, they illustrated the latest lingerie and the newest things in shoulder-blades.

CAPES APLENTY

One of the chief sartorial facts to strike us was the predominance of the cape. Little Red Riding Hood and Sir Walter Raleigh would both have felt very much at home at the Races yesterday. There were more kinds of capes than there are cash in a fantan game and they ranged in length from the antebrachium to the point where Achilles got the arrow.

We saw a corded cape of changeable lavender and green pussy-willow taffeta, a woolen cape consisting of a great band of red bounded North and South by bands of yellow, a tangerine cape with a fuzzy gray collar and gray edging, a white serge cape criss-crossed with fine lines of black, and a tan duvtyn cape with long woolen fringe falling from the shawl collar to the hem. The most startling cape of all was of white georgette with a filet lace collar, which showed beneath it a flower-embroidered net dress over a yellow silk slip. It was topped by a large yellow hat with black cire ribbon tied under the chin. That cape wouldn't be much of a protection during a Siberian Winter, though it might be used in Summer to keep the wearer from getting sunburned.

Besides the separate capes, there were several of waist length which swung from the necks of sports coats, some of them amounting to not much more than conspicuous collars. To be fashionable this year it is absolutely essential to have a cape, but the latitude of style is such that you might cut it from a sofa-cover or a superannuated lace curtain.

A GREEN SILK JERSEY

As we remarked before, there were few costumes present calculated to make spectators fall out of the second story windows. One of the most original was a bright green silk jersey with long fringe on the sleeves and blouse and numerous dark green worsted caterpillars curled affectionately over the landscape. Another unusual gown was of black taffeta so completely transvered with crisscross lines of Valenciennes lace that it looked like the map of a new suburb. It was finished with kindergarten size lace sleeves and a black hat with black and yellow flowers alternating around the brim. A third costume that smote us in the perception was a white serge affair with white fox lolling on the collar, around the angel sleeves, and along the hem. The girdle consisted of a narrow green and purple ribbon and the hat of black straw with purple flowers.

How a black taffeta gown with no trimming can be made distinctive was illustrated by a costume with somewhat low neck and slight puffing at the waist. The fact that the lady who wore it carried a stick as long as that of a theatrical lady-in-waiting had a hat with a black feather that threatened to curl around her chin might have had something to do with its effectiveness.

We read some time ago that the flapper is going out and today's fashion lesson seemed to prove it. Last year about seventy-percent of the costumes were designed for a maiden of an age that still furtively plays with dolls. This year the majority of them were built for the lady who is drawing her second alimony. The darker colors, the longer skirts, the uneven hems, and the clinging lines all plainly demonstrated that the girl still in the throes of getting her teeth straightened is being pushed aside without an encore, while Theda Bara steps triumphantly from the wings.

LACE OVER PINK

Of the few ingenue costumes present, one of the most noticeable was composed of cream-colored lace over pink with a lavender girdle and a shawl of lavender tulle over the shoulders. The tulle gave an effect of daintiness that many a summer re-

NORTHERN RIVALS TO FIGHT DECISIVE BATTLE THIS WEEK

Both Sides Getting Ready For Struggle Which May Decide Issue In Civil War Now Raging Near The Capital

WU'S REINFORCEMENTS COMING UP

Shensi Troops, With Artillery, Reach Front, With General Feng In Command; Mukden Artillery Does Great Damage

BY JOSEF W. HALL
(Staff Corresponde nt The China Press)

Peking, May 3.—The capital was quiet today, which applies also to Changsintien. It is reported that the Fengteinese will take the offensive on this front tomorrow.

President Hsu is taking measures to stop the war. He has sent envoys to Paotingfu and Chunliangchen, the headquarters of Wu Pei-fu and Chang Tso-lin, respectively, with instructions to do everything possible to bring about a cessation of hostilities.

A decisive battle is expected to be fought this week.

BY JOSEF W. HALL
(Staff Corresponde nt The China Press)

Liangsiang, Chihli, May 1,—A big advance has been made by the Chihli Army along the Southern sector. The right flank, consisting of the 26th Division under the command of General Chang Kuo-yung, has moved to Machang, dominating the Tientsin-Pukow Railway while the left flank, under General Wang Chen-ping, commanding the Third Division, has taken over Shengfang, 22 miles due west from Tientsin on the Tatsing Ho.

The central sector is holding the enemy and on the Northern sectors the situation varies at different points.

General Wu Pei-fu is constantly in the field. He manages to keep the motley collection of Honan troops in lines, pending the attack to be undertaken by General Feng Yu-Hsiang's Christian Division, which has already begun to arrive. The artillery and all the division contingents were completed today The full arrival of the division will take place day after tomorrow, when General Wu's plans for enveloping his enemy will be continued.

The Northern front suffered heavily from the Fengtien artillery's marksmanship last night. Five hundred casualties were recorded last night and 200 more today. Many were slain among the collie brigade.

(Reuter's Service)

Peking, May 3.—Heavy fighting is reported from Machang today. The middle front of the Fengtien forces are consolidating their position at Ku-an. The Chihli forces are reparing for a fresh attack.

Tientsin, May 3.—The Fengtien headquarters is circulating a report that General Wu Pei-fu has been killed by artillery fire, stating that General Chang Tso-lin is giving $500,000 to the Division responsible; but the report is generally discredited.

The lull in the fighting is continuing today. Troop-trains of reinforcements from Mukden are still going to Machang.

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, May 3.—General Chang Tso-lin has telegraphed to the Government acknowledging the Presidential Mandate ordering the cessation of hostilities and, in reply, contends that General Wu Pei-fu started the hostilities.

General Chang says that he did not intend to fight when he sent his troops inside the Great Wall. He had informed General Tsao Kun that he was ready to enter into an agreement with the Chihlities, but General Tsao had not replied. General Chang had therefore concluded that General Tsao had ranged himself on the side of General Wu, but, he states, if Generals Tsao Kun and Wu Pei-fu are ready to cease hostilities, he is willing to acquiesce.

Peking, May 3.—General Tien Chung-yu, the Tuchun of Shantung, has telegraphed to the Government urging that Shantung should be declared out of bounds, pointing out the recent sufferings through the famine and the need for quietude during the taking over of the railway et cetera.

General Tien also asserts that Fengtien forces are being transferred to Dairen via the South Manchurian Railway for shipment to Shantung, but he does not indicate by what steamers.

This report is vigorously denied by the Japanese Legation.

Wu A Green Hand, Chang Tso-lin Says

(Eastern News Agency)

Tientsin, May 2.—Interviewed by a representative of the Eastern News Agency, Chang Tso-lin, who is now at Chungliangcheng, after stating in detail as to the condition of fighting, expressed his views as follows.

"The object of my mobilising the Fengtien troops into Chihli is as has been repeatedly announced in my circular telegrams. Nevertheless, the Chihli troops having so strongly challenged the Fengtien troops, the latter were at length forced to accept a battle.

"Such a greenhand as Wu Pei-fu is anything but a match for me. One regiment belonging to the 3rd Chihli Division, which is Wu's pride, was defeated today in the battle of Changhsintien and surrendered at my camp. The Chihli troops are now hard pressed for military funds with the consequence that they are sacking everywhere they go, thus torturing innocent citizens.

"I hear that Tsao Kun, panic stricken, has already consolidated his own assets at Tientsin. Inasmuch as my object is to effect the unification of the country, I would never pay my attention to trivial, individual property of others.

"Though I am fighting with the Chihli troops, I have not the least intention of infringing upon Chihli province, for I am firmly determined to return to Mukden after the termination of war."

British Vice Consul Injured By Shell

Mr. E. S. Bennet, the British vice-consul, while observing the position of the Fengtien troops during the lull, received a scalp wound from one of the few bullets fired. His condition is not serious.

On the midde front the Fengtien forces have retaken Kuan. Wounded from the latter place state that heavy fighting has been going on for the last three days often at close quarters, and that the tide of battle was continually changing until Fengtien reinforcements turned the scale. The fighting in the region of Kuan seems to have been of a higher quality than elsewhere.

The Government's efforts to effect a compromise have given rise to the unjustified rumors that the present lull preceded an armistice.

(Eastern News Agency)

Hankow, May 2.—According to an official report that has reached the Tuchun's Office at Wuchang, at daybreak on April 30, the Chihli troops captured Tacheng, advancing 20 li further and seizing more than 2,000 rifles. On the night of the same day the Chihli troops were still pursuing the Fengtien forces.

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, May 2.—Fighting continues without intermission at Changsintien, on the bank of the Hunho and northward of Kuan, but up to the present no material advantage has been gained.

According to reports from foreign observers on the Chihli side, General Wu Pei-fu was recently directing operations at Changsintien and "endeavoring to get good fighting out of Tsao Kun's poor troops," pending the arrival of General Feng Yu-hsiang's forces, which began to reach Paotingfu yesterday.

The reports assert that General Wu's own troops did not take part in the fighting at Changsintien. This may explain the indecisive character of the Chihli attacks, resembling German frontal methods without the support which made the Germans effective.

While no fault is found with the courage of the troops, who frequently faced heavy casualties, foreign military critics point out that a determined attack pressed home or a counter-attack at the right moment might have changed the position at Changsintien in one day. The heavy bombardments have depleted the guns of ammunition and the fighting is now mainly with machine-guns and rifles.

CHANG'S PRISON CAMP

(Dah Tong News Bureau)

Peking, May 2.—General Chang Tso-lin has given orders for the transformation of the former German barracks at Chunliangcheng into a prison camp for the Chihli prisoners.

It is learned from supposedly reliable sources that General Tsao Ying has arrived at Chunliangcheng to discuss peace terms with General Chang Tso-lin. He is said to be representing the Pacifist Party of the Chihli Faction.

According to reports emanating from Fengtien sources, the 3rd Chihli Division has taken the place of the 26th Division in the center defense lines, but as there is some unrest among the Chihli troops at Paoting General Wu Pei-fu is unable personally to direct operations. General Chang Tso-lin yesterday gave orders to his troops to attack from Tacheng towards the North.

After capturing Niutochen, heavy rewards were given to the Fengtien troops. The men, inspired by these rewards are working their way forward. On the west side the troops are attacking Liuliho very fiercely, with a view later to attacking Chochow. Owing, however, to the fact that the Chihli troops have assembled at Chuyao and Hochan the Fengtien troops are still defending Tachenghsien.

CHINESE PRESS TELEGRAMS ON THE SITUATION

A Tientsin wire states the troops of Chang Tso-liang has taken Pahsien.

Another Tientsin report says that Ku-an has been taken by the Feegtien troops and that casualities on the Chihli side were very heavy. The Fengtien calvary on tse western front which is near Teutien has worked wonderfully well, fos 20 or 30 of the horsemen could defeat hundreds of Chihlites as well as jump over their trenches.

A detachment of the Chihli artillery and a detachment of infantry have surrendered to the Fengtienites besides two field guns have been taken. The surrendered troops have been sent to Nanyuan.

A Hankow report states that the west wing of the Chihli troops were attacking Lukouchiao on the 2nd inst and this greatly terrorised the inhabitants of the capital. Wang Shih-chen and Chao Erh-suan were sent to stop Wu'Pei-fu's attack but Wu refused. Wu was leading an attack on Machang and wanted to reached Tientsin within three days. The 11th division of the Shensi troops has joined the fighting. General Feng Yu-hsiang has reached Paoting.

A Nanking wire says that the West wing of the Chihli troops has advanced eastward beyong Lianghsiang, wounding over 1,000 Fengtienites besides taking prisioners of over 200 and an enormous quantity of arms and ammunitions. The vanguards are only 10 li from Changsintien. Fighting is now taking place at Tacheng, Yaomatoo on the eastern front. The 3rd division and the 6th brigade have reached Pahsien

A number of soldiers and civilians have been killed by bombs dropped by the Chihli airplanes on Fengtai.

Chang Tso-lin will not go to Tientsin but is installing searchlights at Chunliangcheng to watch for airplanes.

Wu Pei-fu has telegraphed to Hu Ching-yih of Shensi to bring one division of soldiers to the front.

Liu Hsiang of Szechuen has received word from Dr. Sun Yat-sen and and Chang Tso-lin asking him to begin his northern expedition. A conference was called forthwith to decide the matter. One party proposed to join Sun Chuan-fang to attack Hsiao Yao-nan of Hupeh. Should the fight be successful, Hupeh province will inaugurate self-government with Sun Shuan-fang as Tuchun. Another party moved to start the expedition together with Chao Heng-ti of Hunan. It was finally decided to wire Chao regarding the movement. Chao's reply was sympathetic and agreeable. He declared that Wu Peo-fu was faithless in his promise to return Yochow and that Wu further sent Shen Hung-ying to occupy Pinkiang' all of which has provoked the indignation of the Hunan military officers.—Chungking Wire.

Canton Wire.—Admiral Tang Ting-kuank, Minister of Navy, has resumed office. Li Kuo-tang has been appointed us Vice-Minister. Commanders for the various men-of-war have been appointed. A reception was held by the navy in honor of Dr. Sun Yat-sen on 1st inst. The Northern Punition Expedition will begin immediately.

Three regiments of Li Lieh-chun's forces have entered Kiangsi province. Military operations will begin on the 5th inst.

Wang Tsing-wei is in favor of starting an immediate campaign against the North, and he will go to Huichow to see General Chen Chiung-ming with the object of asking Chen not to miss the present opportunity.

The Canton Chamber of Commerce has wired to General Chen Chiung-ming, soliciting his return to Canton.

Eleven war vessels will compose the squadron of the Southern Government in an attack on the Yangtsze provinces.

Chinese Shipping Co. Plans To Start Eight New Lines

Chinese oversea merchants in the Strait Settlements and the South Sea Islands have proposed the establishment of a shipping company operating eight lines either in China or in foreign waters with Shanghai and Hongkong as the centers of administration, according to reports received here yesterday.

Mr. Lin Wan-su leads the list of promoters, who are principally Cantonese. It is assigned that merchants in each of ten ports will subscribe about $2,000,000, the total capital being in the neighborhood of $20,000,000—the largest sum ever invested in an enterprise by Chinese.

In addition to the contributions that enthusiastic merchants have made toward this project, it is being backed up strongly by the Chinese consuls residing in the ports. Subscription is now in process.

sort queen will undoubtedly copy. Another gown of the ingenue class was an accordion-pleated tan georgette, over a pink foundation, with several rows of vertical ruffles playing tag down the sides.

We might also mention during the course of this typewriter sonata that brown dyed lace over tan satin was as popular as apple pie at a dairy lunch; that shoes have shrunk until they consist mostly of a sole held on by perforated straps; and that the Spring millinery gardens of yesteryear have given place to such hardy edibles as clusters of cherries, bunches of gooseberries and aggregations of the festive green olive. We noted also that several present, including us, were caught in the hat famine that swept over the city three days after the shipments from home arrived. There were many brave attempts to disguise Manila straws, and more than one imperfectly-cleaned Leghorn bore the finger-prints of the amah's fine Celestial hand.

We don't know just what effect the races will have on style throughout the city, except that today those who lost are wearing mauve mental auras and those who won are wearing dark brown tastes.

HOW TO "GROW" A NEW COMPLEXION

These are the days of "hustling." In a week we see and do more than our grandmothers did in a year. We are gradually turning nature to be our servant; we use her great forces against herself. We have conquered sea and sky, now our doctors are fighting not only disease, but old age. There is talk of rejuvenating human beings by the injection of animal glands, but as yet, only the few can avail themselves of the treatment.

There is, however, one secret of perpetual youth that is in the reach of everyone. Scientists now realise that the only way of keeping the skin young and fresh is to examine Nature's methods and to find some way of imitating her.

SCIENTIFIC BEAUTY.

In order to explain the new method of keeping the complexion perpetually youthful, one must understand something of the nature of the skin. A baby's skin is always clear and smooth because the outer layer is always invisibly peeling off, and new layers are forming just as fast underneath, so that the exposed skin is always fresh, unwrinkled and "new."

For the first few years of our lives this peeling is a purely natural process, but as we grow older, we gradually lose the power of throwing off our old soiled outer skins, so that our complexions become lined and yellow, and the new skin has no chance to show itself.

A few years ago, a scientific chemist realised that a little-known substance called mercolised wax, was exactly what was needed to "keep nature up to the mark." It appears that this substance, which is now unversally obtainable, gently and painlessly assists nature in throwing off the soiled outer cuticle. The skin is thus perpetually renewed, and a clear youthful complexion can be preserved to any age. (Advt.)

VALEDICTORY FOR C. C. C.

That the ability to meet the great
ks before the Church will come om uniting all forces was ustrated by the closing talk of e afternoon session at which shop Roots made the valedictory
port of the China Continuation mmittee, now closing nine years service in co-relating the ristian forces of China. This mmittee ceases to exist at the esent Conference and will be ceeded by such new form of ntral organisation as the Con-
rence shall elect.

Bishop Roots interpreted the
incipal achievement of the mmittee as being found not so uch in facts or figures as in the iendships which it has fostered in parts of the country between inese and foreigners, between
ose of different dialects, denomi-
ations, view-points and experices.

"When so many men and women
me together year after year to e Christian tasks of China from national point of view," said
ishop Roots, "they receive a train-
g in thinking in the large which tending to bring about unity in l Christian work in China."

TODAY'S MEETINGS

Today's meetings will be given to iscussions of the "Future Task of e Church in China." The leading ddress of the day will be given in e morning on the theme of an ndigenous Church" by Dr. T. T. ew of Peking and the Rev. R. K.
vans of Peking.

In the afternoon the Conference
ill separate into five sectional onferences to discuss specific roblems such as education, health
nd leadership.

SURVEY IS GIVEN

Dr. Cheng Ching-yi's opening
ddress follows:

"What do we consider the real
bject of this Conference to be?
What do we hope it is to accomlish? In what attitude of mind ave we come? Are we prepared o open our hearts to each other ith absolute frankness? Are we illing to sacrifice, if need be, our deas, plans, methods, points of iew and personal advantage for
he best interests of God's Kingdom? Are we prepared to move
orward in a spirit of progress
which may startle our former habits of thought and our old ways of doing things? Are we willing nd ready to follow the guilding
hand of the Spirit of God wherever He may lead and whatever may be the cost? Do we in short really mean business? These are questions arising in our minds that press for definite answer as we approach the Conference grounds.

"We have, therefore, assembled here for a very serious purpose and
under very critical circumstances.
We are here to review the past
work of the Christian movement in this land and to find out how much
—nay it may be more correct to say
how little—has actually been accomplished. We are here to try to concentrate our attention on the future development of the Chinese Church and on the adjustment of its work to that of the missions.
We are here to face squarely the present situation both within and without the Church in all sincerity and with a Christian courage. We are here to study the Christian movement as a whole and not primarily as regards its details.

CHURCH FACES CHALLENGE

"The Christian Church is face to face with a challenge which must be met with deep seriousness and humility. We think, therefore, that the gathering of so large a number of representatives of the churches
and missions and other Christian organisations at the present juncture is both opportune and likely to prove epoch-making.

"We do not wish to overestimate
the value of conferences, of which there have been many in recent years. We clearly recognise that they are not all powerful, and have their distinct limitations. Very often they do not really touch the problems at issue, nor affect the actual conditions, but at a time
like the present when the Chinese Church is growing restless and is seeking for an outlet for its convictions and aspirations, and when the better educated classes of the nation are taking their stand on the platform of science and challenging the Christian religion, it is high time for us who regard the business of God as the one great thing in life to get together and to consider what have been our successes and our failures, wherein lies our strength and weakness, and upon what points fresh emphasis
must be laid, and in what matters
new adjustments are required.

HOPE FOR NEW ADVANCE

"In many respects this Conference is therefore significant and likely to prove epoch-making in the history of the Christian propaganda in China. Its timeliness, its representative character, its equal representation of Chinese and missionaries, its choice of
"The Chinese Church" as the central theme of its discussion, all these indicate that it is likely to prove well worth the time and
thought and money spent upon it.
It is our ardent hope that as a result of these facts this Conference will mark the entrance by the Christian Church in China upon another stage of advance; that it will help the churches and the missions to see eye to eye, and to realise more clearly than ever before the different functions which each is to serve; that it will help
all the Christian forces that are working in this country to come to a better understanding and to effect
a closer co-operation in order to realise more speedily their common objective, namely, the evangelisation of China.

"As this is in a very true sense
a Conference dealing mainly with the work of the Chinese Church,
our attention is naturally turned to the consideration of that great subject. Notwithstanding the many failings and weaknesses of the Church, we Chinese Christians
welcome with all eagerness and great expectancy the opportunity of discussing with our missionary friends the future development of the Church which, we most frankly acknowledge, is still largely under foreign tutelage.

"While there are no outstanding
facts pointing to any remarkable
and rapid growth of the Church,
there has been steady development
and signs of life are not difficult to discover. The Church is becoming self-conscious and is eager to accept larger responsibilities. As signs of hopefulness we would call attention to the growing spirit of Christian stewardship, the growing desire to be of service, the development
which is taking place in its ability to think for itself. These signs of new life in the Church must be thankfully recognised, and the spirit breathing in it be nurtured
and encouraged, and in no wise
hindered or checked or despised.

DESIRE SELF-EXPRESSION

"In all mission fields sooner or later there gradually emerges with the growth of the church the desire for self-reliance and self-expression.
China is no exception in this matter. Circumstances in the past have led the Church in China to follow unconsciously the pathway
of dependence upon the missions
both for their material and spiritual requirements. As missionary work generally begins with the less educated classes of society
this condition of things seems to be inevitable. No one is therefore to be blamed for it, but when the Church has awakened to the fact that it is not leading a natural and healthy life, the question of developing self-reliance becomes
one of the most acute and burning problems. This is in reality a mark of growth.

"The most serious aspect of this problem is not the dependence of the Chinese Church upon the liberality of Christians in other lands. Its dependence upon the thoughts, ideas, institutions and methods of work of others is an even more difficult problem. The Church has thus far taken too
many things for granted in an un-questioning way, and has not developed sufficiently in independent thinking and in forming its own judgments. How can a Church hope to grow in strength and in wisdom under such circumstances?

"While Christianity is an Oriental religion it has come to China by way of Europe and America. This inevitably means that it has brought with it a distinctly Western coloring. This is not of itself necessarily a bad thing for
there are many points of excellence
in the West that are both desirable
and helpful. It lays, however,
upon the growing Christian Church in China the need of taking great care and of exercising true
discrimination so that, while holding true to the essential spirit of Christianity, it may still be free
to express that spirit in ways suitable to the people of this land.

"We cannot but regard as something less than the best the mere blind following of what others say or do; the wholesale acceptance of customs, traditions, forms, institutions and methods. Nay, we would go even further and say that to accept even the interpretations of religious truth without searching
the original sources and thinking through their implications for oneself is something less than the best. Christianity in China is seriously handicapped at the present time by being regarded as a foreign religion. This handicap should be removed, and Christianity, which is a universal religion and is capable of adapting itself to the needs of every land in every age, should become naturalised in China.

"We, therefore, welcome all
well-directed efforts to help the Church to undertake heavier responsibilities, to meet the cost of its work, to manage its own affairs, to express Christian truth
in its own terms, and to develop the sense of responsibility and ownership in regard to all matters ecclesiastical administrative,
evangelistic and financial. The Chinese Church must not rest satisfied with anything less than getting competely under the load.
In doing so, however, she cannot guarantee that the work will be carried on in precisely the same manner, or by the use of the same methods as has been the case during the period of predominant foreign direction in the past.

"These, we think, are the main objectives for which we have assembled. We are met here that we may thoughtfully and prayer-
fully consider them together during the coming days. We hope that after the conference is over
as we turn homeward we shall carry with us a real sense of satisfaction and hopefulness as we each, in our respective spheres of labor, face the future task of the Church. Speaking frankly, we Chinese Christians are not satisfied with the situation in the Church as it is today, and we long
to see readjustments and improvements. Such dissatisfaction is, we make bold to say, not only right but is a healthy sign of growth, and is inspired by God Himself.

"Let it be clearly understood
that we have come here to propose no particular methods of procedure, or schemes of organisation. We are seeking rather to interpret the needs of the present
hour, so as to help us prepare to face the actual situation. Inasmuch as the Chinese people have characteristics of their own, these questions must be approached
from the Chinese point of view.
Plans that have proved successful
in other lands, as for instance in India or Japan, may not prove suitable for China. Even in China itself the country is so vast, the number of different missionary societies each with their several emphases is so numerous, the church is in such different stages
of development, and advancing at such different rates of progress,
that no sweeping generalisations
can safely be made which will meet the needs of all parts of the country, and of all the Christian churches at the present time.

"Some of the churches have developed along self-supporting lines from almost the first day
when the church was founded,
while others have as yet barely
made a start. In some churches
the direction of church affairs has already passed entirely into Chinese hands while in many others
the missionary pastor still holds the reins of power, and determines the line on which the churches develop. In some sections the churches are doing their own independent thinking, while in many others it is still true that they merely accept what others
plan for them. It is evident
therefore that under such conditions no one particular plan or method can meet the needs of the case.

"Nevertheless we make bold to affirm that it is the right principle, and one applicable to the whole Christian body, to expect
the Church to develop along lines
that will make it independent of foreign control, and free from the stigma of being a foreign institution. We feel confident that we are all in substantial agreement in regard to this point. We are arguing merely for the natural development of the Church and have no plan which we desire to impose upon the different churches
throughout China.

"But let us go one step further.
What is needed today is not so much a statement, or a re-statement of the ideal just mentioned,
but rather the realising of that ideal. For many years missionaries as well as others have been committed to the position that it is right that the Christian Church
should become naturalised in every country in which it is found. The difficulty is that while there has been agreement in theory, too little has been actually done to put it into operation.

"That is the real trouble. We do not want to build a church that is foreign, but we must admit that there is still little or no sign that the Christian Church in China is becoming Chinese. For years we have freely admitted that it is the development of the Church and not the mission that should be the central object of missionary endeavor; that as yet
there is little evidence that this goal has been reached. What is needed, therefore, we repeat is not so much to restate the

"THE less it seems to you that you can afford life insurance, the greater is your need for it. If you had more money today than is actually the case, the more you would have to leave to your family. But the only way open to you to create at once the estate you need which might take years to accumulate in any other way, is by means of life insurance. GENOA OUTLOOK COMPLICATED BY BELGIAN STAND

M. Jasper Firm In Refusal To Accept Terms

(Reuter's Service)

Genoa, May 3.—Following upon the attitude of the Allies in despatching the memorandum to the Soviet, the Belgian Delegation has written a letter to Signor Facta withdrawing all the offers it made in the preamble for aid to Russia, including a subscription to the consortium.

Washington, May 3.—In spite of its policy of non-participation at Genoa, the Administration does not object to ex-President Taft's acceptance of the chairmanship of the proposed commission on the Soviet's indebtedness to foreign bondholders.

London, May 3.—It is learned from Genoa that that M. Barthou states that he will not return unless the French Cabinet completely approves his actions and grants its implicit confidence regarding his future actions.

London, May 3.—The Daily News learns that Mr. Lloyd George's scheme for the settlement of reparations and inter-Allied war debts was conveyed to Paris yesterday by M. Barthou for submission to M. Poincare and President Millerand. It is stated that Great Britain is prepared to sacrifice for the benefit of France a portion of her share of the reparations if France agrees to a scheme under which Germany's immediate liabilities shall be reduced to a point rendering possible the flotation of an international loan.

London, May 3.—Advices from Genoa state that the Allied memorandum to Russia was presented last night, with the French reservation that assent to the article respecting compensation for private property is subject to confirmation by the French Government.

The Belgians did not sign the completed draft.

Genoa, May 3.—Reuter's correspondent is officially informed that the British delegation has no knowledge whatever of the reported oil agreement between the Soviet Government and the Shell Oil, Royal Dutch and Anglo-Persian Companies.

Brussels, May 2.—A semi-official statement calls attention to the gravity of the situation at Genoa owing to M. Jaspar being left alone to defend the rights and private property of foreigners in Russia. The statement explains that M. Jaspar insists on the obligatory restitution of property wherever possible instead of approving the proposed Allied arrangement whereby Russia is given the option of paying compensation for property, and contends that, apart from other considerations, as such compensation is payable by Russian Government bonds, "the owners merely receive a scrap of paper in exchange for property." The Belgian delegation's attitude is applauded, but meanwhile there are angry comments in the press at the absence of the French delegation's support of M. Jaspar's contention.

Paris, May 2.—It is reported from Genoa that a great stir has occurred in Conference circles in consequence of Belgium deciding to absent herself from the experts Committee and the Russian subcommittee owing to the incompatibility of the Belgian views with regard to the restitution of private property. M. Jasper has resolutely declined to alter his decision.

The tension was heightened when M. Barrere, the French Ambassador to Italy, announced that he had been instructed to withhold his final approval of the Allied memorandum to Russia owing to the wording of the clause objected to by M. Jasper.

A semi-official statement says that the Cabinet has decided to consider the sub-committee's memorandum before it is presented to the Soviet members. The tendency is apparent to support the Belgian standpoint.

Whooping Cough.

This is a very dangerous disease, particularly to children under five years of age, but when no paregoric, codeine or other opiate is given, is easily cured by giving Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. Most people believe that it must run its course, not knowing that the time is very much shortened, and that there is little danger from the disease when this remedy is given. It has been used in many epidemics of whooping cough, with pronounced success. It is safe and pleasant to take.

MARESFIELD, BURKILL UP, WINS THE CHAMPIONS; OLD BILL, FAVORITE, IS SECOND

Shenkoland Finishes Only Head Behind Old Bill

By the scant margin of a half length Mr. Henry Morriss' grey pony Maresfield was piloted to winning place by Mr. C. R. Burkill in the Champions Sweepstake yesterday. The Campox pony Old Bill, favorite in the race, finished second with Mr. M. O. Springfield riding. Shenkoland, ridden by Mr. A. Dallas, finished just a head behind Old Bill.

The eleven starters in the great semi-annual classic and how they finished are as follows:

FIRST

Mr. Henry Morriss' gray Maresfield, (C. R Burkill)

SECOND

Mr. Campox's bay Old Bill, (Springfield)

THIRD

Mr. Day's Shenkoland (A. N. Dallas)

UNPLACED

Messrs. Winsome and Hasty's ches. The Hawk, (Hill)
Mr. Toeg's Henry VIII, (Sleap)
Mr. Ma-ka-lee's ches The Knut, (Moon)
Messrs Fay and Seth's Christmas Gift, (A. J. P. Heard)
Capt. Bahnson's cream Guldborg, (Eric Moller)
Messrs. N. L. Sparke and G. Wilson's ches. Castle Sycee, (J. K. Brand)
Mr. Wm. McBain's Full House (Harper)
Mr. McBain's Nationalist, (Knoll)

Won by: half a length; a head.
Time: 2:34 3-5.
For win: $28.10; for place: 1st, $10.20; 2nd, $7.00; 3rd, $18.10.

Aside from the factor of being the second largest sweepstake in the world, yesterday's big race was a contest of a kind to stir the blood of the most indifferent spectator. After Old Bill had set the pace a length ahead of a close packed field, in which Shenkoland characteristically brought up the rear, all of the eleven ponies held close to the positions in which the start had been made around the first turn and through the back stretch.

In the last turn when Nationalist, Maresfield, Christmas Gift and Henry VIII were pressing the leader Shenkoland began to push through the field. For a short space Nationalist worked into the lead but Old Bill and Maresfield close abreast overtook Mr. McBain's grey pony and Shenkoland then was close behind them as they swept down the stretch.

As the leaders came toward the stands it was all but impossible to see which had the advantage and it was a neck and neck finish that flashed by the massed throngs in the stands.

HAWK OFF FORM

Perhaps the greatest surprise of the race was the failure of The Hawk to make a better showing, but it was said yesterday that in the past two days the pony has gone off form. At one time favorite in the race, The Hawk, ridden at this meeting by Mr. Hill, ranked as second choice favorite by the narrowest margin as late as the night before the race.

It is noteworthy two of the three winners yesterday were winners in The Champions Sweepstake last November when the event was captured by The Hawk, Maresfield finishing second, and Old Bill third.

While weather conditions for the race were ideal and the course was in excellent condition the time of 2:34 3-5 for the mile and a quarter was not particularly remarkable, being two and a fifth seconds under the track record that was set three years ago by Rosewood.

THE DAY AFTER

As one outcome of the race some forty-four thousand and seven hundred-odd holders of saffron hued tickets are sorely disappointed. The limit of 50,000 tickets set by the Race Club was not achieved and, in fact, the sweepstake was slightly under that of The Champions at the meeting last fall for which 45,000 tickets were issued. The total number sold in yesterday's race was 44,800.

It was announced yesterday that a syndicate composed of Chinese had won the big prize amounting to $225,792. The second prize of $64,512 was won by the well known realty operator Mr. J. T. Hammond, who had the fortune, besides drawing the ticket on Old Bill, favorite, drew also the ticket on Christmas Gift which ranked as a fourth choice favorite. As the payment made on unplaced ponies amounted to $1,493, Mr. Hammond won this in addition to the big prize. The third prize of $32,256 was won by a Chinese ticket holder.

DANISH TEAM AND BRITONS ON BYES FOR DAVIS CUP

Drawings for the Davis Cup tennis classic of 1922, held by the United States National Lawn Tennis Association, resulted as follows:

UPPER HALF

Denmark, bye.
Canada vs. France.
Belgium vs. Australasia.
Hawaii vs. Czech-Slovakia.

LOWER HALF

Spain vs. Philippines.
Rumania vs. India.
Italy vs. Japan.
British Isles, bye.

The United States cup team, victorious last Fall, will defend the cup against the winner of the international tournament.

Indications are that of the fourteen teams that have declared their intentions of competing, eleven contests will be held in the United States. Rumania and India will compete in Europe, probably Italy and Japan also will play on the other side, for the winner will meet the team of Great Britain in the second round, the Britishers having drawn a bye. Denmark also drew a bye, and in the second round will oppose the victor in the Canada-France match.

A feature of the draw is that, in all except one instance—Rumania vs. India—the teams pitted against one another are situated in geographic extremes with the United States the half-way point.

The draw was made at noon, President Julius S. Myrick and other officials making the selections blind-folded.

U. S. Gamblers In Mexico Hard Hit

(China Press Service)

Mexico City, April 15 (by mail).—Derelicts of the race track, Americans who followed the ponies to Mexico City and then failed to win enough for car fare home, are making competition keen for their Mexican beggar brothers.

During the day they frequent the main plazas of the city and waylay their more fortunate countrymen for the price of food and drink. They will camp by night at the race track where a kind management allows them to "hit the hay" free of charge but, handicapped by a lack of knowledge of Spanish, they are finding work difficult to obtain, even if they look for it. There is no organised American charity in Mexico City to care for them.

SHANGHAI COLLEGE PLANS FIELD AND TRACK MEETING IN SPITE OF NORTHERN WAR

Trial On Saturday For Big Meets At Nanking Promise Big

In spite of the big war in the North which jeopardizes sports in Southern Eastern and Central China, Shanghai Baptist College plans a big meeting for Saturday morning and afternoon in preparation for the big East China and National meets at Nanking.

Seventy men or more are expected to compete for the school honors. Hardlers are expected to rank first for the school.

The East China meet was set for May 13 at Nanking with the final or National meet at Nanking on May 20.

It is doubtful now however that the Colleges of East and North China may get together for the final test due to the war and the interrupted transportation attendant thereupon.

The first program was for an East China meet at Nanking on May 13 and a National meet at the same city a week later though it is not expected now that the program will be carried through.

The Colleges composing the conference for the most part are dependent upon open transportation to the meeting. They include the Peking College, the Nanyang College and the Tungshan College which compose the Chiao-tung University together with the Shanghai Baptist College and other East China Schools which make up the East China Field and Track Conference.

WHAT SCIATICA IS.

Sciatica is neuralgia of the sciatic nerve and the treatment should be the same as for other forms of neuralgia.

So many severe cases of sciatica have been helped by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills that every sufferer is justified in giving the treatment a thorough trial.

Sciatica, being an inflammation of the nerve, may arise from many causes, pressure on the nerve, a fall upon the thighs, lifting heavy weights or exposure such as most army veterans have undergone.

Sciatica is stubborn in resisting treatment and the patient frequently suffers for years. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills do not simply relieve pain but they correct diseases caused by depraved or vitiated blood. They are also efficacious for the treatment of even the most severe nervous disorders.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are a non-alcoholic tonic particularly suited for nervous people. Your own druggist sells them, or they will be sent by the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., 95 Szechuen Road, Shanghai, price $1.50 per bottle, $8 for 6 bottles, post free.

Blood Poisoning

Yet Another Grand Recovery

Our Portrait is of Mr. WILLIAM HAPBORNE, of 6, Railway Road, Perry Bar, Birmingham, England, who writes:

"About two years ago I met with rather a bad accident. My arm was cut severely, and I had to have it stitched at the hospital. This caused me six weeks' absence from work, and after resuming my duties for one week I broke out all over my body with huge Boils. Again I went to the Hospital, and was treated for Blood Poisoning; this happened on three successive occasions, until I began to think I should never be cured. Then I gave Clarke's Blood Mixture a trial, and the first bottle or two seemed to be driving out the poison, so I persevered, and after taking ten bottles I was cured. It is now over twelve months since I left off taking your Clarke's Blood Mixture, and I have seen no signs of any further blood disorder."

CLARKE'S BLOOD MIXTURE, by reason of its remarkable blood purifying properties, can be relied upon to give speedy relief and lasting benefit in cases of Eczema, Bad Legs, Abscesses, Ulcers, Boils, Pimples, Eruptions, Piles, Glandular Swellings, Rheumatism, Sciatica, Gout. Pleasant to take and free from anything injurious.

AUDACIOUS ANGLES ON CHINA

By ELSIE McCORMICK

Have you ever sat with your best fountain-pen in hand, trying to write a letter home that will give your friends a clear idea of life in the Far East? If so, you know how hopeless it is to convey any adequate notion of social conditions, Chinese customs, and all the humorous slants on housekeeping and business common in the everyday experience of the Shanghai resident.

Miss McCormick's new book, "Audacious Angles on China," is exactly what you want to send home. It consists of 221 pages of concentrated cleverness, touching as many aspects of life in the Far East as could be packed between the covers. Thirty-six of the best sketches which Miss McCormick has written for the CHINA PRESS during the past year are combined to make up the volume, including such popular favorites as "Chinese Jazz," "Pidgin English," "The City of Twinkling Toes," "Enter the Sing-Song Girl," "Nobody Loves a Chinese Tailor" and other articles which called forth particularly favorable comment.

The edition, which is attractively bound, is being issued by the Chinese-American Publishing Company and will be on sale at all the leading book-shops. You will want a copy for yourself as well as for the family at home.

AILWAY BUREAU REATS WORKERS ELL, IT ADMITS

atement By Ministry Of Communications Gives Details

(Reuter Pacific Service)

Peking, April 26.—The follow- g statement regarding the trea.. ent given to Chinese Govern- ent railway employes was issued the Ministry of Communica- ns yesterday:

From time to time the public s been kept informed of the ogressiveness of the Ministry o ommunications as well as the provements on the Chinese overnment Railways, but it is t so well known that the ousands of employes of these ilways are liberally treated by eir employers.

The Chinese system of railway counting has been highly com- ended by a London expert and e has advised the South African overnment to adopt it in its ntirety. Between 1915 and 1919 e railway revenues increased om fifty-seven to eighty-three illion dollars, while the operat- g expenses for the correspond- g period increased from thirty only thirty-eight million dol- rs.

Such a satisfactory result is ue no doubt to the loyal co- peration of the railway em- loyes, and in turn they have een encouraged by the Ministry f Communications to do their est.

TRAINING SCHOOLS

For example, not only are ailway training schools provided ut there are also schools for he education of the employes' hildren. In this way both the ngine-man, let us say, and his hildren are intellectually looked fter, and in the case of the killed laborer this means that e is given full oportunity to quip himself as a technician of better class.

Since 1918, when the experi- ent was first started, no less han twenty-five middle and rimary schools as well as twelve ailway training schools have een established, with a total en- olment of 6,000 students and nvolving an aggregate expendi- ure of $110,770. For the reater enlightenment of the killed laborers a fortnightly agazine is published in the opular style of print and lec- urers are sent to give helpful alks to the men all along the ines, with the aid of lantern lides, moving pictures and ramophone records. The lectures re well attended, the audiences requently exceeding a thousand en.

Loyally of service is appreciat- d, and after so many years' faith- ul service in the railway each employe is entitled to a liberal ension for the rest of his life. This is so far a distinct departure n Chinese Government service ave in the exceptional case per- aps of the Maritime Customs Service.

SAVINGS BANKS

Further, to enable the employe to lay up something for a rainy day, savings banks are establish- ed. And the way these men have responded shows that, given the incentive to save and to be frugal, they will do so and will put away their savings in interest-bearing savings bank accounts.

The above are things which are already within the reach of every railway employe. In fur- ther encouragement of these de- serving employes, the Ministry of Communications has in contem- plation the execution of the fol- lowing plans:

(1) A system of co-operative stores where the employes them- selves will be the shareholders as well as the customers. This is intended to relieve the in- creasingly high cost of living by enabling the laborers to procure the necessities of life at practi- cally cost price.

(2) A system of insurance (A) against disability due to accidents sustained in the course of rail- way employment, (B) against sickness, and (C) against loss of life, so that in the event of emergency the employe will not be helpless or destitute.

Must Face Issues, Says Church Leader

ideal, but frankly to face the question as to how that ideal can be realised in actual practice. We would solemnly declare it as our mature judgment that the success of the work of every mission should be judged in the final analysis by the degree in which it has succeeded in putting that ideal into actual practice.

"We will go further and state that this problem cannot be solved by adopting resolutions at conference or committee meetings, nor by placing in isolated cases some Chinese of ability in respon- sible positions. Our chief con- cern is with the question as to the attitude taken by the missionary societies and the churches throughout China on this subject and with their general practice.

"A word of warning needs to be given here. It is inevitable that during this stage of development difficulties will arise and that there will be disappointments and even disasters. Misjudgment of intentions, misinterpretaton of motives, unbalanced statements, unkind criticisms, misuse of public funds, mismanagement of church affairs, unsympathetic attitude to- wards others, uncharitable re- marks—these and other things will surely occur occasionally here and there in different parts of the country. Nevertheless, notwith- standing all these inevitable dif- ficulties that will surely try one's patience and faith, we frankly say that we should prefer to see the young man whom the Lord loved stumble along in the grave clothes in which he was wrapped than to see him lying motionless and life- less in the cold grave. Let the Commanding Voice ring today in our ears as of old saying, 'Loose him and let him go!'

"In the last analysis the pos- sibility of success, depends upon the attitude of individuals toward one another. Success may crown a comparatively poor plan if the one who seeks to put it into opera- tion is a man of the right kind. On the other hand failure will not infrequently result from excellent plans if handled by wrong per- sons. The solution therefore of bringing about the necessary readjustments between church and mission depends not so much upon the particular plan as it does upon the personality of those who are responsible for putting it into operation. Success will crown the endeavor if missionaries, both men and women, are prepared to work to make the mission dispen- sible in China, and to loss them- selves gladly in the great cause. Happily we have such men and women in this country among our missionary friends. Those who are always willing and ready to serve the Church as its 'helpers,' and are putting into practice the words of John the Baptist 'He must increase but I must de- crease,' words to which all readily assent but which are difficult to put into practice. Such friends, however limited in number, are the constant inspiration to the Chinese Church and the source of true encouragement.

"But the attainment of this great object is not dependent merely upon the attitude of our missionary friends. We Chinese Christians have at least an equally important part to play in the at- tainment of this goal. It is equally our duty and respon- sibility. Let us, therefore, solemn- ly ask outselves, 'How much do we make of the Church of Christ, how truly do we love to serve it, are we willing to stand by it through thick and thin; do we really and truly regard it as our own?' Our service of the Church is measured by our love for it. Let us remind ourselves that it is easy enough to arouse a pass- ing enthusiasm about the Church at a Conference, but quite a dif- ferent thing gradually to put ourselves under the burden, and to develop it along the lines that will be at once fully in keeping with the spirit of God, and at the same time in line with all that is good, true and beautiful in our nation.

"To undertake this gigantic task we need therefore educated and trained leaders and many of them. Again the Church is already in our midst. It is ours if we are willing and ready to make it ours. No one can really block the way. We need the call today. The call today is for men with an independent, aggressive and daring spirit, baptised in the love of God, who will voice our aspirations regarding the develop- ment of the Christian Church in China, and will march forward with true humility and great boldness and perseverence rely- ing upon the guiding hand of the Head of the Church, Our Lord Jesus Christ. Fellow-believers in Christ! in the face of our spiritual, intellectual and economic limitations are we pre- pared to take up so great a responsibility, and to risk all for the sake of our Lord and His Church? May God help us in the attempt!

"Let no one think for a mo- ment that by the foregoing re- marks we even suggest for a moment the preaching of a new Gospel, or presenting of a Christ different from Him reveal- ed to us in the Holy Scriptures. 'The foundation,' so said St. Paul, 'is already laid and no man can lay another.' The Church of Christ in China is a part of the Church Universal. It is being built upon the foundation of Christ and on Him alone. Truth knows no change, 'Jesus Christ is the same yesterday, today and forever.' The whole world needs Christ as much today as men of old, and China is no exception. We wish to take this opportunity to emphasise once more the urgent need at the present time that God will lay hold of men em- powered by His spirit to proclaim the love of God as revealed in Jesus Christ to the people of our land who are consciously or otherwise seeking for the light, life and health which can only be supplied by Him who is 'the Way, the Truth and the Life.' May it please God that we who are gathered together here may all receive during the time of our waiting together a double portion of His spirit that so He may send us forth with burning hearts to win men to allegiance to our Master.

"We most earnestly hope that nothing which has been said will lead any to go away with the idea that we are looking for the retirement of our missionary friends, who are working in our midst nor that we feel that new missionary workers are no longer needed in China. This is far from the intention. The work of Christ in China has merely been begun, even after 115 years since the arrival of the first Protestant missionaries. The presence of the missionary is not only desirable but necessary. The work demands our united efforts and the joint action if China is ever to be evangelised. What we do desire to see, how- ever, is that the quality of the missionaries who intend to come to China should be very carefully considered by the responsible re- presentatives of the churches in other lands. Especially is it im- portant to find out what is their attitude and spirit toward the Chinese people.

"While we are eager to see the Chinese Church bear its respon- sibility, and to become free from the overshadowing influence of the mission, we do not wish to see the church in China develop in the Church a spirit of 'China for the Chinese,' as we believe that this is not in harmony with the universal character of the Christian Church, nor with the spirit of Christ. We believe that the noble Chinese saying: 'The whole world is one family and China is a member thereof' applies in the truest sense to the spirit of the Christian religion.

"As we face the future develop- ment of the Church in China, we are convinced that the task is one that demands the whole- hearted co-operation of Chinese Christian and Christian mission- ary. They must work shoulder to shoulder. Their united efforts are essential. We must never entertain the idea that the Chin- ese Christians are fighting against the foreign missionaries, nor that we Chinese Christians are seek- ing more power on the one hand, and our missionary friends are trying to withhold it. We might as well not enter into the dis- cussions of this conference if such a feeling were in existence amongst us. We are met here not in some political game, nor to carry through some kind of international diplomacy. We are here as Chinese and missionaries to work together for the best interests of the Kingdom of God in China. We are fighting to- gether against the force of con- ditions round about us and not against one another. No mission- ary has ever come to China for the direct purpose of planting Western methods and traditions, or with the intention of bossing the young church. We also believe that it is not in keeping with the moral sense of the Chin- ese people to depend upon others to pay their bills and run their affairs. Since it is, therefore, without any ill intention on the part of either the church or the mission that the present far from ideal situation has been developed, we must work to- gether unitedly to effect a radical and real change. When, we plead for a far larger degree of initia- tive and Chinese responsibility in the work of the church, we are not asking our missionary friends to withdraw their sympathy, their friendship, their advice and their co-operation. Indeed we shall need even more than before all such help, as the young and inexperienced church of Christ enters upon its task as a part of the great Church Universal. Independence wisely directed is necessary and desirable for the Chinese Church, but the ideal is, we believe, not so much independ- dence as co-operation. Looked at from any point of view this is by far the most important factor, not only in meeting the needs of the Church today, but in meeting the needs of the whole world as well. We must increasingly learn to work together and to 'dwell together in unity.'

"It is our hope that before this Conference ends we shall all of us learn to place a far higher value even than in the past upon the importance of working to- gether for the accomplishment of the great task that has been entrusted to us. We are indeed a cosmopolitan body who are met here, representing many interests, denominations and points of view; but the tie that binds us together is stronger than any of these diverging interests, even the love of the Almighty God.

"The measure of the blessing we shall receive from this Con- ference, whether it shall be great or small, depends upon the spirit in which, and the attitude with which, we have come. We shall be dealing in this Conference in the final analysis not so much with matters of a material as of a spiritual nature, and these must be dealt with by men who are kept in the love of God.

"Brethren in Christ! We are entering upon a new day, we are facing a new task, greater re- sponsibilities are being placed on our shoulders, let us quietly be- fore God realise the seriousness of what this all means. Surely these facts should drive us into the very presence of God Him- self, the Source of all wisdom and power.

"May the spirit of humility, of trustfulness, and of penitence, possess each and all of us as we try on this and the following days to face together in the presence of God some of these problems of the Chinese Church, and of the Christian Movement in China as a whole which are by no means easy of solution. Remembering always that 'With God All Things Are Possible:'

"Let us prey first of all that a spirit of prayerfulness may do- minate this entire conference. May the words of the prophet ring in our ears and hearts with a new and deeper meaning than ever before, 'Not by might, nor by power, but by My Spirit, saith the Lord.' Let us pray for a spirit of expectation and faith in God, believing that He will grant us the much needed guidance and help as we try to face some of the problems of the Chinese Church at the present time.

"Let us pray for a spirit of frankness and put away all formality that hinders us to open our hearts to each other with true Christian fellowship and partnership in the service of Our Lord.

"Let us pray for a spirit of patience and perseverence realis- ing the limitations and weakness of our human nature.

"Let us pray for the divine grace of mutual forbearance that we may place the best inten- tion and motive upon our inter- pretation of whatever is said and heard.

"Let us pray that the spirit of Christ's love may rule our hearts from the first day of the Confer- ence to the last, controlling all our deliberations and discussions.

"Let us pray for a spirit of Christian adventure that face to face with many obstacles and difficulties God may give us the boldness and the bravery that will enable us to dare to move forward in His strength who is the Almighty One.

"Let us pray for a spirit of pulling together, realising that while we have many and real differences, we cannot afford that the body of Christ should be divided. If some of our ideas and views must be sacrificed, let us realise that it is the Great God Himself who is calling us to be heroic enough to pay the price of giving up our personal interpreta- tions and prejudices for the sake of making our work for Christ and for men more effective and controlling.

"Let us finally see visions and hearken to the voice from on high. Let us see the need of the world as it is today. Let us see afresh the condition of this land in its spiritual poverty. Let us hear the voice from the Lord calling us to move onward, and let us be ready to obey."

ADDRESS GIVEN AT "PARALLEL" CHURCH MEETING

Three Speakers Tell What Is Expected Of National Conference

At the first of the series of parallel meetings for the foreign community, held yesterday afternoon in Union Church, three brief but very terse and inspiring addresses were given concerning what is expected from the National Christian Conference by various people.

The first address by Dr. Franklin, secretary of the American Baptist Missionary Society, speaking for the home base, said that the Boards expect at least four things from the conference; guidance in their policies; inspiration for the work, especially because of such leaders as Dr. C. Y. Cheng, the chairman; a spiritual benefit for the home churches because of the spiritual virility of the Chinese churches; and a larger conception of what God is doing in the world and of how He does it. This last implies for freedom for those on the field, Chinese as well as missionary, in shaping the policies and expending funds; a far greater freedom from ecclesiasticism for the Chinese churches; and a larger freedom for the Chinese to see Christ for themselves rather than merely to accept the Christ as described by Western missionaries.

Mr. Thomas Tchou, speaking for the Chinese Christians, said that although they now number only one-thousandth of the population of China, their influence is far more than this proportion. They hope that in this Conference the Christian forces may be co-ordinated and therefore more influential. The Chinese also hope for entire freedom in finding the real Christ, untramelled by Western traditions free from denominational walls which are meaningless to the Chinese. Further, the Chinese expect Christianity to permeate the community rather than merely a few small sections, isolated and unconnected, in the community; society itself must be Christianised in every respect, he declared.

Bishop Hind, of the C. M. S., Foochow, said that many missionaries will in this conference become far more conscious that there is already a Chinese Church; so much so that many are now firmly convinced that even if all missionaries went home and no funds came, the Chinese Christian Church would not cease. Many missionaries hope that the Chinese Church will gain a sense of solidarity impossible when under the tutelage of so varied teachers. "Third," he said, "we hope that the Church will gain confidence in itself and its task and so relate its members far more to the task. Further, we missionaries hope that the Chinese Church will absorb into itself all that is best in the thought and life of China, which missionaries have too much discredited in the past. But chiefly that the differences which characterise the Christianity of the West and which are essentially connected with the history of the West may be forgotten and may be overcome, not by exclusion but by comprehension. The most miserable result of our missionary work is the perpetuation of these silly differences; these walls must be broken down. This conference is laying a foundation for a unified Church."

The next meeting for the foreign community will be on Friday afternoon at 5:15 at the Chinese Y. M. C. A., when Mr. M. T. Stauffer will repeat his conference address, with the lantern slides showing the progress of Christianity in China.

Cleaning Fluid Is Hookworm Cure

(Reuter's Service)

London, May 2.—A message from Suva, Fiji, states that over twelve thousand cases of hookworm have been successfully treated with carbon tetrachloride by Government agencies. Tests show that ninety percent of the cases were cured with one dose.

Carbon tetrachloride is better known as a non-inflammable cleaning fluid than a worm eradicator. It is made by passing chlorine gas through carbon di-sulphide and consists in one atom of carbon united with four chlorine ones. It also results if chlorine is passed into chloroform which latter has only three chlorine atoms in the molecule. The tetrachloride also has been tried as an anaesthetic, but is better known as a local and external deadener of pain being used in a manner similar to the ether spray for minor operations such as the removal of ingrowing nails.

British Unions Want Japanese To Quit Siberia

(Reuter's Service)

London, May 2.—A number of May-day demonstrators at Hyde Park last evening went to the Japanese Embassy where a deputation was admitted. They presented a copy of a resolution which had been carried at Hyde Park, calling upon the Japanese Government immediately to recall its troops from Siberia. There was no disorder.

The leader of the deputation told the waiting crowd outside that the resolution would be forwarded to the Japanese Ambassador at Genoa, and added that if the reply was unsatisfactory a demonstration would be made at the Embassy nightly, until some satisfaction had been obtained.

Missionary Work May Be Curtailed

(Reuter's Service)

London, May 2.—The report adopted at the annual meeting of the Church Missionary Society showed a general income of £467,677. The chairman hinted at the necessity for a drastic reduction of work abroad.

Spot and forward bar silver were each up ⅛d. in London yesterday.

The New York price advanced to 68¾ cents, and the London-New York cross rate to 443¼.

The only change in the official quotations here this morning was a drop in the Rupee rate to 265.

Our market here today opened steady but became firm during the day.

At the opening, business in Sterling was done at 3-5½ for May-June, and in Gold Dollars at 76⅝ for the same deliveries.

However, later in the morning, as high as 3-5¾ was done for both May and June Sterling, 77 for May Gold Dollars and 76⅞ for June.

The market closed with sellers rather than buyers at these rates.

India bought silver in London yesterday and China sold.

The market is reported as closing steady, but with perhaps more sellers than buyers.

The New York market is also reported as steady.

Hongkong Shares

Messrs. Moxon and Taylor of Hongkong write as follows in their weekly share report dated Hongkong, April 28:

Our market has been on the quiet side during the past week but most industrials have been in fair demand for cash. The forward market is still neglected with few if any transactions.

The Shanghai market continues very dull with practically nothing doing.

Rubber remains stagnant.

The following are the principal alterations since last week.

Hongkong Banks:—Have been steady at $845 and quite a few shares have changed hands at this price.

Unions:—Have firmed up owing to the approaching dividend of £3 and have come to business at $250 at which price more shares are wanted.

Hongkong Lands:—Have had a considerable rise during the week but without enticing many sellers and close strong with buyers at $220½.

Humphreys:—Have been done at $10.30 and more shares could be placed at this price.

Cantons:—Have come to business at $445.

Shanghai Stocks:—Are all more or less neglected.

Hongkong Wharfs:—Have had a considerable rise during the week and close firm with buyers at $108 cash and $110 June.

Hongkong Docks:—Are in some demand at $149.

U. S. And Cuban Refiners Combine

(China Press Service)

New York, May 2.—The United States and Cuban sugar producers have agreed that a syndicate shall be incorporated of $32,000,000 under the laws of the state of Arizona to administer an equity plan for domestic refiners and growers without increasing the tariff on the Cuban product, according to Mr. Alfred Grover.

Although he admitted he represented the refiners syndicate, Grover said that he proposed to add four-tenths cents to the market price of Cuban refined sugar. The fund thus derived could be distributed among American growers and refiners on a basis of eight billion pounds yearly of Cuban sugar, this would be equivalent to capitalisation. He declared he would not attempt to fix the price.

Church 'Team' Visits Ningpo

(China Press Correspondence)

Ningpo, May 1.—"The International Team" consisting of Miss Maya Das of India, Miss George of America, Miss Muskrat of the American Indians, Mr. Golland of Switzerland, and Mr. Nikitin of Russia spent last Wednesday and Thursday in Ningpo. A local committee which had made arrangements for the visit met the team at the boat in the early morning and after breakfast took them on a tour of inspection of the schools, hospitals and churches of the city.

After a day spent in seeing the city a reception was given at a restaurant which serves foreign meals. Sixty-five were present at the banquet. Before the dinner addresses of welcome were given by representatives of the Y.M.C.A., The Thursday Club and of the schools.

In the evening some of the delegates addressed a large audience at the Y.M.C.A. On Thursday morning all the delegates addressed a large audience of nearly a thousand students at the theater. After this meeting the delegates were invited to the Y.M.C.A. to try the use of chop-sticks at a delicious Chinese dinner. In the afternoon the women of the Team addressed the members of the Woman's Club at the home of Mrs. Smith.

Large crowds were down to the boat to bid farewell to the guests and they sailed away in the midst of handkerchief waving and the singing of farewell songs.

We May Save Russia And Russia The World

BY DR. CHAS. FLEISCHER

WE have sent to Russia an "Ambassador of Mercy," sure to be more serviceable to both Russia and the United States than any merely diplomatic representative could be!

It is in itself a highly dramatic incident that Colonel William Haskell of our regular army, and therefore well trained for killing, should have been sent to Russia for so beneficently peaceable a purpose as the saving of millions from starvation!

Incidentally this indicates a train of constructive uses for which such small defensive armies as will survive ultimate disarmament may always be employed.

It is to be hoped that Colonel Haskell and his efficient staff will not only be magnificently successful in their merciful task of life-saving but that they will serve as a dynamic symbol of the essentially sympathetic attitude of America toward the great Russian people.

Probably this actively friendly relationship is only a prelude to dennite co-operation between the two nations for incalculable service to the whole human race.

Though America has become an amazingly conservative nation, we are still true to our birthright; and we are glad, therefore, to see other nations follow the shining example of our Fourth of July.

That we were horrified by the butchery of the late Czar and his family does not, at this distance of space and time, prevent our approval of the dethronement of dynasties and the establishment of the rule of the people.

To be sure, we would prefer actual democracy in Russia to the present type of self-selected oligarchy, which it pleases the autocratic rulers to regard as the sort of benevolent despotism needed by the Russians until they are educated for self-government.

Those of us whose faith in democracy amounts to a religious passion would rather see at once in Russia a really representative government, believing, as we do, in the educative power of democracy itself.

As it is, our honest opposition to Sovietism and Bolshevism is economic and academic.

Despite that fact, if the existing Russian regime had not at first repudiated foreign debts, and thus made international commerce impossible, it is a question whether we would not have been able to tolerate even a republic based upon Marxian Socialism.

Their braggart bluster, throwing defiance to all capitalistic government, we would have greeted with a smile, as soon as we had discovered the complete failure of the appeal to world-wide anarchy by a universal proletarian revolution.

All that now is past. There is no danger of this general uprising. The Russians themselves are gradually returning to capitalism and becoming "fit" for international economic relations.

Therefore America may safely yield her fear and cease to be victimised by the nearsighted propaganda of a timid plutocracy.

Indeed, to speak more idealistically, America should resume her normal spirit of sympathy with constructive revolution and her traditional relationship of friendliness with Russia.

While Czarism, with all its dark implications, dominated that vast empire, the friendship of the two nations was rather an incongruous demonstration.

But now, however we may disapprove of her economic experiment and of her internal politics, we ought to be sufficiently farsighted and wisely generous enough to seek to become Russia's guide, philosopher and friend.

Surely there is no reason why America's hand should be against Russia, whatever may be the self-seeking policy of Europe.

For Russia's good, involving America's advantage, an open and informal alliance between the United States and Russia and France would also promise more service to the human race than any other possible combination of nations.

The cause of liberty, equality and fraternity—AMERICA FOR LIBERTY, RUSSIA FOR EQUALITY, AND FRANCE FOR FRATERNITY—awaits the announcement of such a military pacific association for the welfare and the progress of mankind.

BRITISH INCOME TAX

Editor, THE CHINA PRESS,

Dear Sir.—May I remind those of your readers who have already made their claims for recovery of British Income Tax for the year 1920-21, that a further claim may now be preferred for the year 1921-22.

For the benefit of those readers who derive income from the United Kingdom and have not yet claimed, I would point out that all British subjects resident outside this country are now entitled to recover Income Tax as though they were resident. These claims can be made for the period since April, 1920, irrespective of the amount of total income.

In addition to the above claim all persons, whether British subjects or otherwise, receiving income from this country in respect of British War Loans or Foreign and Colonial Securities can recover the whole of the Income Tax deducted from the interest for the past three years.

I shall be very pleased to advise, without charge, any of your readers interested how these claims can be presented. Yours faithfully.

WILFRED T. FRY.

Hugo Stinnes

Since the war Hugo Stinnes has developed from a wealthy manufacturer into something like an industrial king. No man in the world at the present time wields so much economic power. By organising a number of large industrial combinations he has secured a dominating hold on Germany's coal and iron mines and manufacturing plants. He owns a chain of newspapers. With insatiable acquisitiveness he has swallowed steamship lines, hotels, enterprises of every kind that seem to promise profit. In short, pretty much everything in Germany that isn't tightly nailed down has somehow found its way into the capacious grasp of Herr Stinnes.

Herr Brinckmeier represents Stinnes as a plain, blunt man, with a passion for hard work and a contempt for show and sham. He is conservative and nationalist in his political viewpoint, and he gave great offense at Spa by categorically declaring that Germany could not carry out the Allied coal indemnity demands and by remarking that certain individuals were "afflicted with the incurable sickness of victory." This incident is characteristic. Stinnes has never hesitated to express his contempt for the present conciliatory policy of the German government toward the Allies, and his hostility to Rathenau, the liberal industrialist who has recently become Minister of Foreign Affairs, is well known.

Notwithstanding his gruff personality, Stinnes is admired if not liked by the majority of his countrymen outside the ranks of the radical Socialists. His genius for industrial organisation is regarded as a possible means of escape from economic ruin. Herr Brinckmeier's estimate of Stinnes is substantially impartial; it is neither unsympathetic nor blindly adulatory.

-:- Lord Allenby On Egypt -:-

BY F. CUNLIFFE-OWEN, C.B.E.

Protectorate—in Turkish, "Hymaict-Kirleq"—is a term that has always stunk in the nostrils of the followers of Islam where their relations with foreign and Christian Governments were concerned. For in their eyes it has implied the submission—nay, almost the servitude—of Moslems, to the powers with which they have waged war for some fourteen centuries, and which their history and their religion have taught them to regard as the foes of their faith, of their race and of their own particular civilisation.

It is a term which has never found favor in the Western World. For, as stated by the Century Dictionary, it is "a relation assumed by a strong nation toward a weak one, whereby the former protects the latter from foreign invasion or dictation—other than its own—and interferes more or less in its domestic concerns." It is not that the followers of the Prophet really object to the advantages which they derive from a protectorate. But it is the name to which they are so bitterly opposed, offending as it does their national pride and their orthodoxy.

Away back in the years following the bombardment of Alexandria, in 1882, an influential movement was brought to bear, not only in England, but also among the haute finance of foreign capitals, to induce the British Crown to proclaim a protectorate over Egypt.

It was championed by leading members of both great political parties at Westminster, on the ground that since England had been obliged to send an army under Field Marshal Lord Wolseley to crush the anti-foreign insurrection of Arabi Pasha at the battle of Telel-Kebir, and to free Alexandria and Cairo from the hands of the insurgents, in order to protect foreign life and property from fanatic destruction, and to safeguard the Suez Canal and the short cut which it provided to India and the Far Orient, it was only logical that England should assume the protectorate of the land of the Nile, and should become its suzeraine in place of the Sublime Porte, which had shown itself powerless to preserve law and order.

If Continental haute finance was in favor of the plan, it was because Egyptian Government bonds were extensively held in France, in Germany, in Italy, as well as in England, and the establishment of a protectorate by Great Britain meant that she would assume all the obligations of the huge Egyptian national debt.

The Cabinet in London was divided about the matter. Gladstone, to whom the then Sultan of Turkey owed his sobriquet of "Abdul the Damned," hated the latter, so that he would have welcomed anything calculated to diminish the prestige and the authority of the ruler of the Ottoman Empire. But he had been so badgered about Egypt that he could not tolerate any mention thereof, and whenever he dined out Mrs. Gladstone always stipulated that any reference to the land of the Nile should be strictly tabooed at table. To avert scenes, it was avoided as much as possible at Cabinet councils.

There were grave differences in that Cabinet, especially among Lord Granville, then Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs; Lord Hartington, the late Joseph Chamberlain and Sir Charles Dilke, Lord Cromer, then Sir Evelyn Baring, British plenipotentiary at Cairo, was far from seeing eye to eye with Lord Granville and was bitterly opposed to the idea of a protectorate. So, too, were Khedive Tewfik, all the members of his family, and Nubar Pasha, his Prime Minister.

An English emissary who had worked with Cromer, and who enjoyed in a marked degree the confidence and longstanding friendship of Tewfik, was sent to London in the early part of 1884 from Cairo. He managed, through his relations with the court and with political leaders, to interest in a very special degree Joseph Chamberlain, Sir Charles Dilke and two or three other members of the Cabinet against the proposal of a protectorate. Even the personal influence of Queen Victoria was invoked and obtained.

Ultimately it was decided that the matter should be put to a vote in the House of Commons—not as a party measure, but with every one free to follow his own ideas about the matter. The sympathies of Parnell, too, were successfully invoked by the emissary on the plea that Egypt, like Ireland, needed home rule. When the question came before th House of Commons as to whether Egypt should be converted into a British protectorate or should retain her statu quo autonomy under the more or less nominal suzerainty of the Sublime Porte, the protectorate project was defeated by a majority to which the Irish Nationalists contributed, this being, indeed, the only occasion in that year in which they voted as a unit with the principal members of the Liberal Government.

The fact that Cromer had strongly opposed the protectorate commended him to the good-will and to the confidence of the Government and people of Egypt, and during the ensuing quarter of a century of his sojourn at Cairo as British Resident, Egypt derived all the advantages of a protectorate without the stigma of the name, attaining a degree of prosperity unparalleled since the days of Scriptural Joseph.

The policy which he pursued was to direct the destinies of the land of the Pharaohs through native rather than through foreign officials. Wherever a high-priced Englishman could be spared he was supplanted by a native who had proved his worth. There was a maximum of native autonomy, with a minimum of English interference, and when that intervention became necessary in the interests of the country and law and order it was always done personally by Cromer in the most tactful, discreet, unobtrusive and yet particularly effective manner.

His successor, the late Sir Edwin Gorst, was very unfortunate in his dealings, due to ill health and characteristic weakness and vacillation. Things improved a bit under Kitchener, who was trusted by the natives, but who was too much disposed to treat Khedive Abbas, a thorough-paced scoundrel, with openly displayed contempt.

When the Great War broke out and Turkey sided with the Kaiser against the Entente, Khedive Abbas showing a disposition to follow suit, it became necessary to remove him, and in order to effectively put an end to the suzerainty of Turkey, a suzerainty which was mingled with questions of religion and of the Caliphate, Great Britain proclaimed a protectorate, as a war measure, and raised the late Prince Hussein, the cleverest of all the brothers of Tewfik, to the throne at Cairo as Sultan, the latter being succeeded at his death by his younger brother, Fuad.

The Nationalist agitation, promoted from Moscow and from Berlin, had attained very dangerous proportions, and the natives were getting altogether out of hand when Lloyd George determined to entrust the task of restoring law and order to Field Marshal Lord Allenby, at the same time appointing a commission under Lord Milner to proceed to Egypt in order to investigate conditions.

The Milner mission, after spending several months in Egypt, returned to England, making a report in favor of the abolition of the protectorate, but entirely neglected to make any adequate provision for the security of British and foreign interests, or for the safeguarding of the Suez Canal. Th report failed in consequence thereof to receive the approval of the Government or of the people of Great Britain, or of her dependencies, Australia and New Zealand in particular entering violent protests against its adoption.

Certain changes were suggested in London. These were "unacceptable" to the Nationalist leaders at Cairo and matters were at a standstill when Lord Allenby, after discussions with the Sultan of Egypt, and several of his leading statesmen, proceeded to London, to take intimate counsel with the Premier and with the Cabinet. A few days later he left on his return to Cairo, carrying with him the assurance that the British Government would take immediate steps in Parliament to abolish the protectorate, and to endow Egypt with a sovereignty which she had never enjoyed since her invasion by the Turks under Sultan Selim I., four centuries ago. Now she is no longer subject, even in name, to the suzerainty of the Porte, or of Great Britain, but is a sovereign nation, free to carry on, as such, independent diplomatic relations with foreign countries.

It would require too much time to give at length here the conditions of settlement devised by Lord Allenby, agreed to by the Lloyd George Administration and accepted by the Sultan, now King Fuad, and by the principal statesmen of Egypt. England leaves Egypt "free to work out such national institutions as may best be suited to the aspirations of her people," and will reduce English interference and the employment of British officials to a minimum. But Egypt, in return for the recognition of her independence, agrees to consider Great Britain as possessing certain special rights and interests in Egypt, beyond question by any other foreign power.

England undertakes the defense of Egypt against all foreign aggression and proclaims to the world that she will regard as "an unfriendly act" any attempt at interference in the affairs of Egypt by another power as an act, indeed, to be repelled by all the means at her command. England accepts the full responsibility for the protection of all foreign interests and minorities in Egypt. She reserves her right to take all the necessary steps for the security of the line of her communications in Egypt (that is to say, through the Suez Canal), between the various portions of her empire, and, above all, she retains absolute and complete control and possession of the Sudan, on the understanding that as long as the agreement lasts she will never hold up that water supply from the Upper Nile which is so indispensable to agriculture in Egypt proper, as distinct from the Sudan.

That an agreement of this sort should have been reached between Egypt and Great Britain is due to the complete confidence which is reposed by both nations in Field Marshal Lord Allenby, who, in addition to being one of the greatest figures in the World War, as the victorious conqueror of Palestine, and as the deliverer of Jerusalem without any injury to the Holy City, has already shown himself to be an administrator of the rare type of the late Lord Cromer. The latter's policy will to a great extent be his. A minimum of foreign interference, the maximum of native autonomy, and yet the exercise, in the role more of adviser than of master, of an unobtrusive, tactful and yet quietly decisive control of matters in such a way as to avoid offending native pride and national prejudices.

The only trouble about this satisfactory settlement of the Egyptian problem is this: That it rests, as in the days of Lord Cromer, all upon one man, namely, Lord Allenby, who can alone be trusted to carry out his mission by his countrymen, and by the people of Egypt. The latter, very superstitious, read the spelling of his name backward, as is done in Arabic, make it Ibn-el-alla, which means "the servant of Allah"—that is, of God.

Today there are close upon 20,000 English troops in Egypt. In the days of Lord Cromer the British army of occupation averaged under 4,000; sometimes even less. By reverting to Cromer's policy Lord Allenby will be enabled to diminish the present British forces in Egypt by at least two-thirds.

It will naturally be asked what means of pressure Lord Allenby will retain after the departure of the body of his troops, in the event of the Egyptian Government failing to live up to the terms of the agreement on which it has been granted nominal independence. The answer is very simple. It is contained in the concluding paragraph of Lloyd George's speech in the House of Commons, on the first day of the present month, dealing with the Egyption question.

It is this: That Great Britain retains absolute control and possession of the Sudan, and therefore also of the upper reaches of the Nile, from the southern borders of Egypt proper to the great lakes in Central Africa. Egyptians hate the Sudan, which in olden times was used to such an extent by their rulers as a Botany Bay, and as a place of punishment, that exile thither was regarded as equivalent of death.

The Sudanese are equally embittered against the Egyptians, recalling thefrightful misgovernment to which they were subjected by officials from Cairo, prior to the Mahdist insurrection. It is England that has reconquered the Sudan from the Dervishes. It is England that has since 1898 furnished the money toward the restoration of peace and prosperity, and that is converting the vast tract of country, devastated, desolated and depopulated, into a land of plenty and of promise. It is in the Sudan that Great Britain is spending additional millions in monumental works destined to increase the water supply of the Nile. It is England, therefore, who commands the supply of water to Egypt.

What this means may be gathered from the fact that, although Egypt, under forty years of British domination, has trebled the agricultural area through the irrigation methods of English engineers, the population has grown at such a rate that there are today from 45,000 to 50,000 potential cultivators per year who cannot obtain land. This congestion of population and lack of corresponding extension of arable land, is accountable for much of the unrest in Egypt in recent years.

The irrigation works, new dams and reservoirs under construction on the Nile, north of Khartum, are destined not alone to augment the agricultural area in the Sudan, but likewise in Egypt, through the increase of the latter's water supply. England has a large amount of capital invested in agricultural properties in Egypt. It is not to her interest to diminish the latter's water supply. But without that water supply, without that constant irrigation which alone prevents the country to the west of the Nile from being swallowed up by the ever-invading sands of the desert, without the prospect of the supply being increased to keep pace with the growth of the population, no Government, native or otherwise, at Cairo would be allowed to subsist by its twelve million of almost entirely agricultural population.

The control of the Sudan and of the sources and upper reaches of the Nile constitute the key to the Egyptian problem, and it remains, for the good of the Hudan, for the good of Egypt, and for the benefit of all the American and other foreign capital invested in Egypt, in the hands of Great Britain, and in particular of Lord Cromer's counterpart and admirable successor, Field Marshal Lord Allenby.

Lumbago.

This is a rheumatism of the muscles of the back. It comes on suddenly and is quite painful. Every movement aggravates the disease. Go to bed, keep quiet and have Chamberlain's Liniment applied and a quick recovery may be expected. Mrs. F. J. Dann, Brockport, N. Y., writes: "I can honestly say that Chamberlain's Liniment cured me of lumbago a year ago last summer. When I began using it, I was flat on my back in bed and could not turn to the left or right. I had a bottle of Chamberlain's Liniment in the house and this was applied to my back. It promptly drove away the pains and aches."

What You Would Weigh On Jupiter

BY GARRETT P. SERVISS
(Eminent Astronomer and Authority on Subjects of Scientific Interest)

"How does the gravitation of the earth compare with the gravitation of the planet Jupiter? If the gravitation of the earth is causing its interior to be molten hot would not the gravitation of Jupiter cause it to be molten hot to its very surface?—A. P. B."

The total force of gravitation possessed by a planet depends upon the mass, or amount of matter, contained in the planet. Since Jupiter has a number of satellites revolving around it we know with considerable accuracy the relative gravitative force of Jupiter as compared with that of the earth. If we call the earth's mass, or force of gravitation, 1, then that of Jupiter is about 315 (different calculations vary a little).

This means that the attraction of Jupiter upon any body outside its surface would be 315 times as great as the attraction of the earth upon the same body, provided that the distance of the attracted body from the center of Jupiter was the same as from the center of the earth.

It means, too, that if our moon were revolving around Jupiter instead of around the earth (at the same mean distance), its month would be shortened to less than a day and a half. Yet, singular as it may appear, the force of Jupiter's surface gravity, i.e., the weight of bodies lying on its surface, is not greater than the surface gravity of the earth in the same proportion that Jupiter's total force of attraction exceeds the earth's. This is due to the slighter mean density and great relative size of Jupiter. Its volume exceeds the earth's about as 1,300 to 1, but its density is less than a quarter as great as the earth's, so that, as we have stated above, its mass (or weight) is only 315 times the earth's. It weighs only a quarter more than a globe of water of its size would weigh.

The rule for finding the surface gravity of any planet as compared with the earth's is to multiply the planet's density by its diameter expressed in terms of the earth's density and diameter. Thus, Jupiter's diameter is about 11 times the earth's diameter, its density is 0.24 of the earth's density, and 11 multiplied by 0.24 equals 2.64, which is the relative force of gravity on Jupiter as compared with the earth.

There is another way of making this calculation which may enable you better to see the reason why Jupiter, though having 315 times the total attractive force of the earth, is able to give to bodies on its surface only about two and three-fifths times the weight that the same bodies would have on the earth. For this purpose you must remember that the force of gravitation varies inversely as the square of the distance, and that the point from which the distance is measured is the center of the attracting planet.

Now, since Jupiter has 11 times the diameter of the earth, bodies on its surface are 11 times as far from its center as similar bodies are from the center of the earth: therefore the attraction upon them is the square of 11, or 121, times less than it would be if the distance from the center were no greater than it is on the earth.

At the same time Jupiter's total attraction is 315 times the earth's, so that, to find out what the effective attraction at Jupiter's surface is, we must divide 315 by 121, and the quotient, 2.6, representing the relative force of Jupiter's surface attraction, is practically the same as the result before obtained, and would be precisely the same if we had used exact units in both cases.

But anyhow, we see that if we were suddenly transported to Jupiter we would hardly be able to stand upright. A man starting from the earth with 200 pounds of avoirdupois to carry would be overwhelmed with more than a quarter of a ton when he landed on Jupiter. A child of five years would become heavier than the average man. But on our way from the earth to Jupiter we would first gradually lose our weight as we receded from the earth, and then gradually recover it, with usurious interest, as we approached Jupiter.

As to the effect of Jupiter's great gravitative force on the interior state of his huge globe, we cannot speak with the same degree of certainty as of the state of affairs on his surface. It is true that the pressure must be enormous on, whether this produces a molten state within we cannot say, for the pressure itself would tend to prevent molecular motion.

It is known that pressure increases, or raises, the melting points of solids. Our laboratories do not afford us a sufficient range of experiment to reproduce the condition of affairs in the interior of a massive globe like the earth, or like Jupiter.

Calculations based on data obtained at no great depth from the surface may fail to represent the actual conditions far below. The low mean density of Jupiter may indicate either that its outer portions, to a great depth, are composed of gaseous and vaporous matter, while deep within there is a relatively small globe of solid or liquid substance; or that the entire body of the planet is in a state vaporous, semi-liquid state.

It may also mean that the average density of the matter composing Jupiter is much less than that of the matter composing the earth. The careful astronomer does not make any positive statements about the constitution of Jupiter. He is seeking information.

Children Cry for Fletcher's
CASTORIA
Fletcher's Castoria is particularly a preparation for Infants ... Children made agreeable to the taste, acceptable to the stomach ... pleasant in its action. It has been in use for over thirty years ... has always been one of the most highly esteemed of all cathartic preparations. It has one great advantage over other preparations ... its kind in that while it opens the organs readily and completely, ... does not have a tendency to produce subsequent constipation so much to be dreaded.
It was only after years of research in the fields of herbs and roots for a combination of purely vegetable matter that would have all the virtues of Castor Oil, without its disagreeable, nauseating properties, especially when used for infants or children, that the formula used in Fletcher's Castoria was found, and which for over years has proven its worth. Try it.
Save the Babies.
Infantry mortality is something frightful. We can hardly realize that of all the children born in civilised countries, twenty-two per cent., or nearly one quarter die before they reach one year, thirty-seven per cent., or more than one-third, before they are five, and one-half before they are fifteen! We do not hesitate to say that a timely use of Castoria would save many of these precious lives. Neither do we hesitate to say that many of these infantile deaths are occasioned by the use of narcotic preparations. Drops, tinctures and soothing syrups sold for children's complaints contain more or less opium or morphine. They are, in considerable quantities, deadly poisons. In any quantity, they stupefy, retard circulation and lead to congestion, sickness, death. To avoid any possibility of giving your child opiates, or narcotics of any kind, keep Fletcher's Castoria in the house, and Save the Babies.

BANDIT CHIEF'S LIFE SHOWN IN REALISTIC FILM

Slaughter Of His Twelve Wives Is Gripping Scene

(China Press Correspondence)

Chengtu, April 12.—"No honor even among thieves," were the last words of the noted bandit chief executed recently after he had declared his desire to die an honest bandit rather than become a leader in the army under the officials of Szechuen. The reason for this remark has now been disclosed and is a powerful feature in a film drama that has been made to portray the life of this notorious robber chief whose popularity bids fair to send him down in history as a Szechuen edition of Robin Hood.

The story current here is that he was offered immunity for past crimes and a certain territory to rule in a more or less "robber baron" style if he paid the powers that be some $150,000. This looked like a good proposition to the bandit, and he paid over the money. The officials seem to have taken this for a sign of weakness on the part of the band, at least it put heart into some of the craven underlings who set out on a campaign that ended in the betrayal of the bandit.

Details of the final capture of his stronghold bear out the reputation for savagery on the part of the soldiers since they not only slew the bandit, but his twelve wives as well. The film drama lays heavy stress on this scene of slaughter and the final caption of the picture is said to be "I die as I have lived, an honest bandit. But you soldiers must live on in knavish dishonor."

Details of the film as described by eyewitnesses of the preliminary run make its suppression by the authorities not unlikely as the characterisation is far too apt for governmental heads to stomach.

IODISED THROAT TABLETS
Allay all irritation

THE General Public is hereby notified that supplies of "IXL" IODISED THROAT TABLETS, the remarkable new throat remedy that is now being so largely and successfully prescribed by physicians in Great Britain, are now being made available for residents in China.

Representing the latest advance in scientific throat medication, these tablets, by reason of their Iodine content, are indubitably superior to any other pastilles or tablets that have yet been evolved by scientific research.

Their use is positively indicated in all cases of Sore and Ulcerated Throat, Hoarseness, Quinsy, Throat Catarrh, Tonsilitis, Laryngitis, etc.

As a highly efficient throat disinfectant when epidemics are rife, IODISED THROAT TABLETS indoubtedly excel any other preparation yet put upon the market.

No malignant Diptheria, Influenza, or other germ can find lodgement on a membranous surface that has been subjected to the peculiar antiseptic influences of these tablets.

Pleasant to the palate, and allaying all irritation, each tablet, as it slowly dissolves in the mouth, releases, in harmonious combination with other fine quality medicaments, a specific quantity of the pure Tincture of Iodine, to soothe, heal, and sterilise the inflamed area.

WARNING:—All cartons of the genuine and original IODISED THROAT TABLETS bear the "IXL" trade-mark, and each tablet is embossed with the letter "A." Reject feeble substitutes.

All first-class chemists supply "IXL" IODISED THROAT TABLETS.
